OBJECTIVE

As a young political scientist, a professional Chartered Human Resource Manager and a trained teacher with enthusiastic vision, I am seeking for the opportunity to serve as a high and profaned civil servant in either government or private established academic institution in my state. I am eager to use my proven leadership skills and my knowledge and experiences as a professional Human Resource Manager, cum my ability as a trained teacher to help high institutions to grow and develop both internal and external relations cum human capital resources, which is crucial to the success of any organization and establishment, and to make an educational institution a better place for brain development. Yet since no one is a warehouse of knowledge, I come also with an earnest expectation of gaining more knowledge through my undivided service within my proposed institution of work, as it will aid my personal development and make me more resourceful within and outside the organization.
